LOCAL WOMAN SHOOTS SELF IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT HOPE FADES FOR PRINCESS, 63, ON ATLANTIC HOP

TWO CANADIAN FLYERS BRAVE OCEAN PERILS

"Round-the-World" Aces Held Up Day Through Turkish Red Tare

By EARL L. SHAUB
(Universal Service Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 1.—Fear that the mysterious Atlantic had claimed the lives of a flying Princess and her two pilots gripped this city tonight.

LOSE HOPE
As dusk settles over the city after a day of waiting for news from Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Captain Leslie Hamilton and Colonel F. F. Minchin, who set out in a plane from London yesterday morning bound for this city, the authorities who had planned a gala reception for them began to lose hope.

Have they met the fate of Nungesser and Galt? That was the one question being asked here tonight.

FETE PLANNED
Charles P. Edwards, director of the government radio service, and J. A. Wilson, controller of Civic Aviation, believe it would have been impossible for the plane to have crossed over Canadian soil without being detected.

The most elaborate radio preparations had been made to flash the news as soon as the plane flew from the sea. The whole Canadian coast, from the upper banks of Labrador, along the shores of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia as well as the banks of the St. Lawrence river and the adjoining islands are dotted with radio stations, all alert.

WATCH KEPT UP
All day the constant watch along the coast was kept up but the plane was not sighted. The radio stations had been so linked that word of the plane's arrival over Canada would have reached Ottawa in two minutes.

Radio and aviation authorities here tonight are confident that the plane has not crossed the Atlantic. Nevertheless, Lindbergh Field, where the plane was scheduled to arrive at four o'clock is lighted tonight with flood lights in case the flying Princess and her pilots come sweeping down in the darkness.

Canadian Monoplanes Speed Europe Bound

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—Two Canadian monoplanes sped toward the open sea today, three hours apart, in the start of a trans-ocean race to England for the honor of being the first planes from Canada to make the flight to the empire state.

RACE EVEN
The race probably will be more even than the time disparity indicates. For the Sir John A. Macdonald, piloted by Capt. Terry Tully, a Lieut. James McNeil as navigator, was to stop at Harbor Newfoundland, for re-fueling, and left London, Ont., for England, at 5:35 a. m. (Continued on Page 2)

LIONS-KIWANIS "GAME" TODAY

At last, the game of the century Both Lions and Kiwanis baseball teams promise a conflict that will be peep from start to finish when they meet this afternoon at the First street ball park to settle the long dispute to supremacy claimed by both service clubs.

Members of the teams retired last night at 6 o'clock in order to be in the pink of condition for the fray. The preparations made by the clubs have been strenuous, and the undying rivalry and antipathy borne by each for the other is well evidenced in the street brawl put up by Bob Smith, Lions member, and Doc Root, Kiwanis strongman. Both claim the victory which locally belonged to Police Officer C. A. Odell when he entered the names of the contestants in the blotto and warned police authorities to guard the homes of both to prevent an outbreak of further hostilities.

The Richmond High school band will be on hand to spur on the victors and cheer the defeated. The proceeds of the game will go toward the "War" veterans' memorial fund.

Lineups are as follows:
Lions—Eddie Burk, Johnny Miller, Keach Mylander, Clint Smith, Louie Burke, Doc Boehmer, Bob Smith, E. J. Emerie, Ed Hoffman, Al Furrer, Zeb Knott, Fred Caudle, Tom Carlson and Doc Hinkley.
Kiwanis—Doc Root, Doc Sena, P. C. Mortenson, Dr. Stock, Art Barry, Art MacDonald, Duke Johns, Charley Brombacher and Ralph Bergen.

Development Of U. S. In Air Is Urged By Klatt

"United States is far behind Europe in commercial aviation but there is the greatest opportunity for aggressive capital to develop and improve air travel in this country," declared Oscar H. Klatt, president of the American Toll Bridge Company, owners and builders of the Carquinez and Antioch bridges, pioneer developers of "short cuts" in California's splendid system of highways, who has just returned from a two months trip to Europe.

BUSINESS ADOPTS PLANE
"The European business man has almost universally adopted the air method of quick and safe transportation."

"I flew to Berlin, Paris, London, Vienna and other of the larger business men, the wealthy men of all nations. While a few were on pleasure trips the majority had important engagements in the various cities and were taking to the air as the quickest, safest way of keeping their appointments. Hours are saved in this method of travel."

SAFETY INDICATED
"The safety of airplane travel is best indicated by the report of the German Air Transportation Co., operating out of Berlin and which maintains regular service between the European capitals and the larger cities on the continent. That in five years it carried 300,000 passengers with only two fatalities. And these deaths followed a forced landing and were not the result of a faulty plane in the sky."

MILLIONS USE AIR
"The fact that this one company has transported 300,000 passengers in less than five years is duplicated in proportion by commercial airplane companies in London and Paris, which maintain regular service. I venture to say that more than a million Europeans and visiting Americans have in the past five years utilized the passenger planes of Berlin, Paris, London and Vienna to meet their business and pleasure needs."

U. S. PROGRESS URGED
"What has been accomplished in Europe should spur us in the United States to greater efforts in bringing nearer the day of a well-developed system of transcontinental air travel as well as more travel between the larger centers of population by this method."

COAST UNITY BY PLANE
"Here, in California, the two great metropolitan cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles should absent from the city one week. First street, a son."

Realty Board In Fire District Discussion

Extension of the fire districts to include all business zones in the city was discussed by the Richmond Realty Board at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday noon. The proposed extension was made by the city planning commission to the city council last Monday night.

The Realtors are of the opinion that the extending of the zoning will prevent the growth of community business sections. The Realtors are anxious to conform with the uniform building code and will take no action until the exact meaning of the code is understood. A. L. Paulsen and George Schaefer were appointed to report whether the proposed zoning would conflict with the code.

DEALERS USHER IN FALL MODE

Fall modes and fall colors as displayed in the windows of merchants along Macdonald avenue yesterday greeted the eyes of Richmond women when the fall opening event planned for weeks ahead by the local merchants was officially ushered in.

Unique window displays and backgrounds set off to advantage the latest dictates of fashion for men and women. While the streets were crowded during the day, many waited until night to see the illuminated windows.

The window displays, many of which are the equal of those in the most exclusive stores of the larger cities, will be on view today and tomorrow. That a general interest has been manifested by the shopping public in the new modes is proved by the comments made by the many persons viewing the displays yesterday.

Conventionalized panels emphasizing the fall line in mens suits with backgrounds in vivid colors featured the display at McTack-en's, setting off to advantage the new topcoats, hats, suits and accessories for men.

Albert's featured the black gown and hat, sports wear street dresses and evening gowns. Baskets of dahlias and other fall flowers brightened the windows.

Vivid-colored geometrical panels contrasted the tan, brown and gray suits, Stetson hats and other habiliments in Malik's men's store. Women's hats, both for street and dress wear were a part of the Olney's contribution to the event. Sprays of pampas grass in fall colorings set off the models. Dress materials and household fabrics filled other windows.

Garfinkle's women's store, exhibited evening gowns, street dresses, coats and hats especially selected for this occasion. Silver leaves, conventionalized, and baskets of chrysanthemums were employed to contrast the models. An attractive mosque setting prevailed at the men's store, showing the latest in men's wear.

Baskets of bright-colored straw flowers set off dress hats in the windows of the Carquinez Millinery. Unique hat boxes displayed other models.

The J. C. Penney store is featuring black in gowns, coats and hats for fall. Other shades emphasized in coats are wine and the new deer shade. More somber colors are shown in fall suits for men.

Schradler's displayed a dining suite, the table completely set with china, silver and glass ware. A complete living room, with Chesterfield suite, occasional chairs and tables and floor lamps (Continued on page Eight)

WOMAN LIES IN HOME 24 HOURS BEFORE FOUND

Loneliness Assigned Reason For Act; Hope Of Recovery Slight

More than twenty-four hours after Mrs. Anna Haberkorn attempted suicide by firing a shot through her skull, Officer George Bengley found her in an unconscious condition yesterday afternoon when he entered the house at Belvedere avenue above the west portal of Tunnel avenue.

Mrs. A. B. Kollar, 75 Belvedere avenue, went to the home of Mrs. Haberkorn at noon Wednesday and got no response. She found a note which read: "Mrs. Kollar, if you come over don't come in. Notify the police." Mrs. Kollar, who understands little English paid no attention to the note and returned home.

POLICE NOTIFIED
Yesterday afternoon shortly after five o'clock she showed the note to her son, Andrew Kollar, who immediately notified the police. Patrolman Bengley was sent to investigate.

BULLET THROUGH HEAD
Bengley burst open the kitchen door and entered. He found a pool of blood and a revolver lying close by. In an adjoining room, he found Mrs. Haberkorn lying on the floor, a bullet wound in the top of her head and a portion of the right ear torn off. He believed she was already dead, but upon touching her she groaned slightly.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL
She was rushed to the Cottage hospital in a Wilson and Kratzer ambulance, where an operation was performed by Dr. J. W. Bumgarner Jr. Little hope is held for her recovery.

LETTERS, NOTES FOUND
Letters and notes were found at the home by Officer Bengley. One read: "To be opened by my daughter only," and was addressed to Miss Maude Haberkorn at Ross. Another bore the telephone number, Douglass 453, which proved to be her sister, Mrs. Bowers of 149 Sixth street, San Francisco. A third requested Mrs. Kollar to "lock up and give the key to Maude." Her daughter's telephone number at Ross was given on another slip.

Mrs. Kate Thornton, another sister of Mrs. Haberkorn, resides at 139 Fourteenth street, Richmond.

LAST SEEN TUESDAY
Mrs. Haberkorn was last seen by Mrs. Kollar at about 8 o'clock p. m. Tuesday.

Alimony Martyr Refused Pardon

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—Samuel W. Reed, California's "alimony martyr," now serving his third year at the Glenn county jail at Willow, for contempt of court today failed in his second attempt to win an ally in the governor's office.

Governor Young said that he sees no present basis for intervention in the unique case. Former Governor Richardson took the same position a year or more ago. The "alimony martyr" is imprisoned in the unique case. He has refused to make payment for support of his minor child as directed by court order. He claims he is "standing for a principle" and has declined to make any payment on the grounds that his former wife now remarried is not a proper custodian for the child. He has several times said that he would pay if the child is placed in a "Christian home."

A LESSON IN ONIONS

It is the wail of the free traders that the agriculturists do not benefit directly from the tariff. The free traders wave aside the indirect benefits, including the great home market in which more than eighty per cent of all our products are sold, and declare that the farmer buys articles which are higher because of a protective tariff and sells in the open markets of the world.

Of course everyone who has looked into the situation knows that all commodities which are used exclusively by the farmer on the farm are on the free list and pay no duty at all. And it can be found also on investigation that there are a great many crops raised by the farmer which would disappear entirely from American soil should the tariff be removed. The western farmer with his beet sugar and other protected commodities, the southern farmer and fruit grower with his specialized products all realize the value of the protective tariff, directly as well as indirectly.

Quite frequently we read in the newspapers of some specific instance in which the growers of the country are demanding even a greater tariff. The latest example is that of the onion growers of Ohio and Indiana. Their cause has recently been advocated by Senator Willis of Ohio, who proves by his statements on the subject that he "knows his onions."

The crop of onions raised in certain parts of the central states, where the soil is favorable, is very considerable and forms an important part of the economic picture. Egyptian and Spanish onions are now seriously competing with the home product, reducing the price of American onions.

There is a reason. In the first place the Egyptian grower lives in a shanty made of sticks and subsists almost entirely upon rice, with a little dried fish thrown in once or twice a week. He wears little if any clothing and his wages if he is an employe as he usually is, amounts to about $3 a month. Compare his condition with that of the average farmer in our central states and it can easily be seen he will outsell the American onion grower in his own market unless the latter gets enough tariff to make up the difference in the cost of producing the goods.

The present tariff on onions is twelve cents a bushel higher than under the low tariff law which preceeded the present one, but because of higher cost of transportation this is not now regarded as sufficient and an effort will be made to increase the protection.

Here is another example of how the tariff directly helps the farmer. Many more can be found if one will take the trouble to look for them.

An earthquake at Los Angeles is said to have rolled the citizens of that community about in their beds. We thought that Los Angeles people never went to bed.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

AUGUST 31

This is the birthday of the Queen of the Netherlands and of Allen McQuhae, the well-known tenor. Mr. McQuhae was born in Ireland when the Sun and Saturn were in Virgo and the musical and rhythmic Pisces. This gave him not only musical talent but also the power of interpretation. Venus, beautiful goddess of music and song, was happily placed in Libra, the sign of harmony, and moreover was moving her vibrations with those of Uranus, the planet of genius.

This indicates an attractive personality, a passion for beauty and a sense of the dramatic; it brings many friends and acquaintances and insures popularity. The time of Mercury to Juniter promises Mr. McQuhae continues success and popularity both on the concert stage and on the air.

Those born under the influence of Venus are ANALYTICAL and CRITICAL. They are also ACCURATE and METHODOLOGICAL. They make excellent managers. They look at everything from a practical point of view. Most of them like to undertake responsibility, but they are rather inclined to worry, and there is nothing that destroys the health and spirit of the children of this sign so quickly as worry.

Painstaking and conscientious, they often drive themselves too hard, forgetting the old saying about all work and no play. However, most of them are capable of great endurance, for Virgo endows them with an excellent constitution. The Virgians have good judgment and if they will exercise this in regard to eating and drinking, they have little to fear in connection with health. Most of them, indeed, seem to have a natural understanding of the laws of hygiene and know instinctively how to preserve health.

WHY I BLUSHED

While rushing home one rainy evening I noticed several people looking at me and smiling. Not knowing why they were smiling I walked right on, when suddenly a bold young fellow tapped me on the shoulder and said:

"Miss it may be raining outside, but it is not raining in the subway." Imagine how I blushed when I noticed I had been holding my umbrella up in the subway.

MISMADE—MUSCULAR MEN, FRAIL WOMEN

Every normal individual anticipates marriage in a happy home of his own, with the sweet companionship of a loving mate. But every individual should heed the warning "SAFETY FIRST" and know the type of companion that he can harmonize and be happy with throughout the years.

Unhappy married life, filled with inharmonious and discord, will wreck the health and happiness of any individual. It not only blights the lives of husband and wife, but it also means inferior offspring. No life can develop beautifully and be successful where there is constant quarreling and fussing. Dr. Croft says, "A quarrel between two people to settle things is a good deal like a dog fight in a flower bed; the only thing that gets settled are the flowers."

The constant grind of the divorce mill evidences the fact that there is something wrong with the law of natural selection. One would suppose that natural mating was perfection itself; still Luther Burbank experimented years ago upon the mating of plants and found that even old Mother Nature could be improved upon. Of course a couple should marry for love, and each should completely fill the other's heart. But every couple should also be physically and mentally mated.

CANNOT BE HAPPY

A husky, masculine man attracted to the frail little girl whose nature is refinement. Mismatched? It will be almost impossible for this couple to remain happy without much sacrificing and adjusting. Not only are their tastes different, but the delicate little wife cannot keep pace with her "speedy" husband.

He is the physical, muscular type, strong and enduring. She is delicate, frail and lacking endurance. What is more he is a big, strong man than a third, dragged-out wife? This little woman has a flower-like sensitivity. She keenly feels criticism and rebukes.

When he tries to teach her to "stand on her own feet," she thinks he is finding faults. This type wife cries all day when her husband for the first time forgets to kiss her, or prefers the evening paper to her "small talk."

She quickly notices that things are not as they once were and with a deep grief in her heart begins to fade in health, and lose interest in her home.

CAVE MAN WON

Instead of marrying one who possesses the quality and charm that her nature craves, she has won a "cave man" of coarse fiber and mind, one who carries a scowl on his face, is impatient, cross, and unreasonable. She is starving for sympathy and suffering in silence because she feels she is being mistreated. Tears and an aching heart hide behind her handkerchief, but she is shedding the kind of tears that get her nothing.

He is not the sympathetic, understanding man. He does not know that she is suffering, he thinks she no longer loves him, and naturally he drifts further away in his affections. She is eaten up with heartaches, grows bitter and then jealous, soon they disagree on every subject. Disagreements are hard on homes. When suspicion comes in at the window, "love goes out over the fire escape." There can be no happiness in marriage without faith and trust. Disagreements and misunderstandings clip love ties.

There comes a time when the accumulated load is too heavy to bear, the house of love is "For Rent."

There will be many adjustments and sacrifices on the parts of each of these types if harmony is ever to prevail in this union. The best thing to do, with discord is to prevent it. Don't get too close to the danger line. Avoid thoughtless mating with the wrong type.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

By PAUL J. VEATCH, D.P., S.T.

I have red scaly patches on both of my legs. At times they almost disappear only to return a few days later. There is no pain. What can this be? Mrs. M. N.

This would appear to be a vicious elimination. The exact name of the condition could only be attached after personal examination, but this immaterial as far as treatment is concerned. All skin eruptions of constitutional origin are treated practically the same. The usual measure include a fast or at least a fruit diet for five to seven days, followed by the milk and fruit diet, together with sun baths, cool baths exercise and deep breathing.

I noticed you often mention auto-suggestion. Will you explain something about this? SEARLES.

Auto-suggestion means the frequent repetition of good thoughts for the double purpose of training the mind to think in the proper channels and also to impress the subconscious mind with the things that it is desired to realize in the material world. Most people do not think for themselves and even those who do seldom think rightly. Sufficient importance has not been attached to right thinking, and the majority are totally ignorant how to do it. Suggestion should be used frequently during the day, but especially just before going to sleep at night.

My 9-year-old son is bothered with enuresis and also has difficulty in controlling micturition during the day time. The doctor says it may be an irritated bladder or acid urine, as otherwise he is all right. Acid fruit makes him worse. He also has a habit of biting his fingers-nails. Please advise. MRS. W. W. W.

Toxemia and nerve irritation would seem to be the cause of your son's trouble. The difficulty with acid fruit does not indicate that the fruit is a cause, but merely that present conditions temporarily contraindicate it. The usual treatment by natural methods would be a vegetable broth diet for several days, then the milk diet for several more days, then a normal solid food diet, observing care not to overeat. Tea, coffee, spices and condiments, smok-

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

'ROUGH RIDERS' ON THE SCREEN AT CALIFORNIA

The quaint costumes and customs of the nineties, the surge of patriotism that swept over America in behalf of the oppressed Cubans, the assembling of the most romantic body of cavalry warriors in history and their undying exploits in the face of death, the heart of a great, brave American leader and patriot opened as you would open a colden ledger and a love story, wistful, passionate, appealing, gloriously human—these are the strong, warning cordials that one must sniff eagerly in the swift festival of the eye, mind and soul when "The Rough Riders" are hoisted on the screen.

"The Rough Riders" start a two day engagement at the California Theatre today.

"The Rough Riders" is unquestionably one of the finest screen stories that Paramount has ever produced, a picture that fairly demands the use of superlatives. The Rough Riders themselves are a motley lot of men, ranging from silk stockings to jailbirds. They live and they fight like heroes, following that masterly character of American history, Theodore Roosevelt. They follow him in frolic and they follow him in the ghastly corridors of fever, stench, hate and war, where death leads the way.

The picture actually seen, is a revelation of what a real scroll of war and love can be with the proper supervision, infinite labor, and the genuine ability of players brought out to the fullest.

There is small need to mention what excellent portrayals are given by Charles Emmett Mack, Charles Farrell, George Bancroft, Noah Beery and Fred Kohler. You must see for yourselves the power they have infused into their roles. When Jesse L. Lasky, Paramount's first vice-president, and B. P. Schulberg, associate producer, chose Frank Hopper out of a list of nearly seven hundred contestants for the role of Roosevelt, they were possessed both of good fortune and good judgment. He is the nearest thing to T. R. in appearance and mannerism that we shall probably ever see.

"The Rough Riders" was directed by Victor Fleming, whose star is in its ascendancy through his several recent successes. The actual story on which the film is based is the work of Hermann Hagedorn.

Other features include Felix in "Art for Hearts Sake" International News; and Larry Canelo at the organ.

GRETA GARBO SHOWS STUFF AT RICHMOND

One of the world's most seductive screen charmers—being made violent love to by the champion lovemakers of two nations—this is the unique combination of the screen in "Flesh and the Devil," which comes today to the Richmond theatre.

Greta Garbo, blonde charmer of the screen and famous star from Europe, will know forever the difference between American and European love-making as a result of her role in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. In fact, she had to act as a sort of judge of a battle for supremacy between the lovemakers of the American and the Swedish screen champions.

One of the screen lovers is John Gilbert, hero of "The Big Parade," "The Merry Widow," and famous for his romantic roles—the other is Lars Hanson, the "Swedish Harrymore."

These three form a strange triangle in the new picture, a vivid drama of modern Europe, filmed by Clarence Brown from "The Unending Past" by the great European dramatist Hermann Sudermann.

It is a gripping story based on sociological conditions in the old world, hanging on traditions of love and marriage, and with Miss Garbo in the role of seductive modern girl whose beauty and charm lures men to ruin. John Gilbert plays one of her lovers and Hanson the other, who marries her to perpetuate one of the most powerful dramatic situations ever portrayed on the screen.

Other film features include "Hoboken to Hollywood," a Mack Sennett comedy; and Felix in "Felix Jinks."

A little thing

THE power called habit is a little thing but it can pull your eyes open at a certain hour every morning, determines whether you dress the right or left foot first, drop a fixed amount of sugar into your breakfast coffee—free your mind for thoughts that demand actual choice.

The little habit of glancing over these advertising columns daily, checking this and that which appeal to you, frees your mind from any guesswork about the merits of a product; helps you choose wisely when you buy. If you are familiar with advertisements, you can discriminate merits, weigh one product against another, these truths against those. And the habit of buying only advertised goods takes the hazard out of shopping; puts in a good, sturdy sure.

Start a friendly little habit that will pay. Read the advertisements in these columns today

SELECTION OF JURY SPEEDED THRU NEW LAW

The first jury to be chosen in the county under the new law providing for questioning by the judge a jury yesterday was obtained in Superior Judge A. R. McKenzies department in ten minutes for the trial of a $20,000 damages suit brought by Bernard T. Taffero of Antioch, against B. Ippolito and The New California Bakery, for the fatal injury of Taffero's daughter, Madeline, by an automobile in Antioch last December.

The first twelve persons to enter the jury box qualified, the court's questions being directed to generalities and lacking the detailed examination to which jurors in the past have been subjected by attorneys.

Taffero claims that negligent operation of Ippolito's automobile caused it to strike down his daughter, who died in a San Francisco hospital a day following her injury.

Selection of the jury for the case was accomplished by the court in only a small fraction of the time that is usually taken when questioning is done by attorneys. Court attaches declared that under the old system an entire day would have been required to fill the jury box.

The court's questions were directed chiefly to prejudice, acquaintance with the parties involved and their susceptibility to acceptance of evidence and the law as it would be interpreted to them.

Hollywood Is Celebrating Its Fortieth Anniversary

(By Universal Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—Hollywood this month is celebrating the fortieth anniversary of its founding by Kansas prohibitionists. The community which boasts of being the film capital of the world, and about which the rest of the world entertains such exaggerated ideas of wild and exotic atmosphere, owes its origin to two idealistic members of the causading dries of Kansas who put that State into the prohibition column thirty years in advance of the nation.

Officially, Hollywood was born in August, 1887. On that date two former residents of Topeka, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Horace Henderson, Wilcox, subdivided a fig and apricot orchard. The center of this orchard is now the intersection of Hollywood Boulevard and Cahuenga avenue, Hollywood's "Broadway and Forty-second Street."

The saloon was banned from the start. When a hotel was built it was minus a license to serve liquor.

The name of Hollywood was affixed to the future film metropolis because Mrs. Wilcox liked it. She and her husband adopted it for their orchard after Mrs. Wilcox while traveling in the East, had made a train acquaintance of a wealthy woman whose country estate was named Hollywood.

Hollywood straggled along, completely lost to fame for nearly a quarter of a century before the motion picture camera touched it with a magic wand.

Its first motion-picture studio was established by David and William Horsley, hailing from Rayonne, N.J. In 1911 they bought the old Blondeau tavern and barn at Sunset and Gower streets for the Nestor Motion Picture company owned by them and directed by Al Christie.

SIX TELEPHONE MEN KILLED BY TENSION CABLE

TIMBLIN, Pa., Sept. 1.—Six men were electrocuted near here late today when they came in contact with a high tension wire carrying 33,000 volts of electricity. The victims were linemen employed by the Penn Public Service Corporation.

Five of the men were killed instantly, while one, who attempted to rescue the others from the grips of the "hot" wire, died later.

The men were stringing a telephone line across a valley. Five of them were pulling the line when it came in contact with the high tension wire. They were knocked down by the heavy shock. Raymond Smith, working on a pole nearby, went to their aid. He sought to free them from the wire, but was so badly shocked himself that he died later.

The dead, in addition to Smith, all of Punxsutawney, Pa., were: Warren Barnett, Raymond Curry, David Dunmire, Lloyd Shaffer and Blair Joyner.

The scene of the accident is a sparsely settled section. Two other linemen, Quay Grube and David McMillan, injured by the shock, were able to summon aid. Doctors and first aid crews were called. They worked on the victims some time. Finally the doctors said five were dead and continued to work on Smith, but to no avail.

The linemen, according to reports here, were employed by the Penn Public Service Corporation, stringing telephone wires under high tension wires. Reports were that six or eight men had been electrocuted and that doctors and first aid crews were working over them. All the victims were said to be resident of Punxsutawney, Pa.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Stagehands, who today went on a strike in Chicago motion picture theatres, already closed because of labor troubles, are now earning more than the average professional man. It was revealed by Jack Miller, president of the Exhibitors' Association, that the stage men are striking for increased wages. The theatres have been paying a minimum of $77 a week to stage hands. The next class is $93.50. But in no case, Miller asserted is this the average sum drawn by these workers. With double pay for overtime some of these workers draw as high as $250 a week. Prior to the war the top wage for stage hands was $35 a week.

He pointed out that in one loop theatre which exhibits pictures only, three men are employed who do nothing but raise and lower curtains at each show and turn on and shut off the hall lights once a day. These men were paid an average over a four weeks prior, it was said, between $115 and $150 a week.

Statistics show that the average doctor or lawyer earns about $2,000 a year.

UNION HIGH GRID SQUAD PLAY FIRST GAME TODAY

LOCAL ELEVEN WILL TAKE ON OAKLAND TECH

The Richmond Union high school football team will open the season with a game at Oakland with the team of Technical high school at 4 o'clock this afternoon. This will be the ninth time that the Richmond team has played against the Tech team, without one loss so far. Coach Ivan Hill added that the first game would show him what the team was capable of, and what he could expect of it. A squad of 30 men will go with him to Oakland.

Last year the Richmond-Tech game was fought to a scoreless tie.

Earning One's Education Best Basis For Life

By MAURICE LAZAR
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Earning your own education, is the message of a prominent Chicago educator and business man, offered as the basis of success in life.

"Don't let any other person pay for your college or technical school work, and don't work at things outside of your school course while you're studying," said H. C. Lewis, president of the Coyne Electrical School.

After checking up the records of some 75,000 graduates—covering a school period of three decades of the school's history—Mr. Lewis found that the greatest proportion of success, and those

ONE OF THE biggest upsets in tennis history occurred at Forest Hills in Friday's play of the national women's singles championship when Mrs. Molly Mallory, eight times champion and defending titleholder, bowed to the young Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4. Minus her force and dash, Molla was helplessly unable to keep up with Mrs. Chapin's pace. Action photo shows Molla playing in the rain.

Oakland Divine Speaks Before Fellowship

The Richmond Church Fellowship composed of all the Protestant churches of the city, met last night at the First Presbyterian church for a dinner and conference. Dr. A. T. O'Rear, a Methodist minister of Oakland, spoke on the subject, "The Greatest Dynamics in the World." Rev. and Mrs. Aldis Webb of the First Christian church were introduced.

Rev. Webb is the new minister at the First Christian church, succeeding Rev. Frank Woten, who left on an evangelistic tour.

A musical program was put on by a quartet composed of J. H. Plate, S. O. Marshall, Roy Patterson and S. H. Clark.

The dinner was served by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church with Mrs. R. F. Haig directing.

TERRIS AND THAT FIRST ROUND JINX

JACK DELANEY used to knock out most of his foes in the fourth round. He put the slug on Flowers in the fourth and he tumbled McGigue in the fourth. He had the fourth-round habit.

It got to be such an ordinary procedure that the fans felt disgusted with him if he didn't explode a load of dynamite in that particular session.

Then the seventh round came into fashion.

The seventh round of fouls. Sharkey claimed four against Dempsey in the seventh, and Paulino was disqualified in the seventh heat against Delaney.

Now there is a first round jinx, largely made popular by Sid Terris, the Ghetto hand grenade.

Terris had hardly risen from his stool when Billy Wallace, the Cleveland, flopped him in his own corner one night. That was the start.

Terris went in against Ruby Goldstein and Ruby canvased him in the first round.

Now Terris has emerged from his hectic scrumming with Phil McGraw, the Greek from Detroit, with memories of having hit the FOUR times in the first round.

It appears urgent that Terris start all of his fights from the second round. Drop the first round completely. That seems to be the only solution, for sooner or later canvas friction will wear off the edges of Sidney's shoulders.

SID SHOULD FORGET BETTORS

There is no doubt that the career of Ruby Goldstein was halted directly by his east side followers.

You will remember that Goldstein suffered his fatal setback when he was kayoed by Ace Hudkins, the Nebraskan, at Coney Island. Goldstein had the fight in hand up to the time that he hurt Hudkins with a right hander. That is not so contradictory as it sounds.

Had Goldstein taken his time, he might never have wandered in front of a wild knockout punch. He didn't take his time, he tried to hurry it up because EAST SIDERS WERE BETTING ON AN EARLY K. O.

It was the thought of the money that completely changed Goldstein's battle plans. He wanted to make a killing for his friends, some of whom had given as high as 10 to 1 after Goldstein floored Hudkins in the first round.

Sid Terris should avoid the pitfall which trapped Ruby.

In his recent fights Terris has given evidence that he is forgetting same generalship in an endeavor to win in a hurry.

He, too, has the thought of his pal's bets weighing on his mind.

Terris is a sap if he follows that course.

He will find, as Ruby Goldstein found, that the birds who urge him to win in a hurry, in order to protect their bets, will be the first to give him the air when he takes one on the whiskers and stays down for the full roll call.

In the closing rounds of his fight with McGraw, Terris fought recklessly in an attempt to pin the Greek to the floor. That is more of a tribute to Sid's bravery than to his weight above the ears.

Against a heavy puncher, it would be akin to issuing personal invitations to the nearest funeral church.

The trouble with the favorite sons of some states is that they are twins or triplets.

"CIVIL CASES" CROWD DOCKET DURING AUGUST

From the standpoint of the number of civil cases filed, August was the heaviest month in Justice of the Peace John Roth's court in more than twenty years he has been in office.

While civil cases have increased, criminal cases have decreased during the month. Judge Roth declared. He attributed this to the few speeding cases on his calendar this month and the fact that traffic officers have been on vacation. Fines are correspondingly light.

"Gin Marriage" Law Kills Dan Cupid's Work

California's so-called "gin marriage" law is proving a business deterrent to Dan Cupid in Contra Costa County, if the records of County Clerk J. H. Wells can be taken as criterion.

With the new law effective more than a month, only thirty-four couples have obtained marriage licenses in Martinez since the "stop, look and listen" measure came into force.

Pointing out that in each of the two months previous to the effectiveness of the new marriage law eighty-seven marriage licenses were issued, deputy county clerks express belief that the three days' waiting period is discouraging many bay district couples from coming to Martinez. Heretofore a great percentage of marriage licenses issued here have been secured by elopers from the bay district counties.

New Flood Brings Destruction in Kansas

SCENES IN FORT SCOTT, KAN., during the disastrous flood which swept over the central part of Kansas Saturday and Sunday. The flood devastated thousands of acres of valuable corn crops, inundated homes and business houses, taking a toll of two lives, traffic, railroad and auto, is at a standstill due to high water. The property damage is estimated in the millions. It is the second time this year the state has suffered from devastating floods.

NON-STOP HOP Although the second Stinson-Detroit plane, the Royal Windsor, carrying aviators Philip S. Wood and C. A. Schiller, hopped from Walkerville Field, Windsor, Ont., for a flight to Windsor, England, three hours later, at 9:17 a. m. the crew was determined to make a non-stop flight and hoped to catch up to, and perhaps pass, the Sir John Carling at Harbor Grace.

The Sir John Carling passed over this city at 7:45 a. m., eastern standard time, and was reported over Iransburg, Vt., at 11:17. The Royal Windsor was reported flying over St. Thomas, Ont., at 11:30 a. m., and over Oshawa, Ont., Saturday 1:15 p. m. Both planes were flying very low.

The latter plane carried a wreath inscribed "Nungesser-Coli" which was to be dropped in the Atlantic. Turk Red Tape Impedes Round-the-World Flyers CONSTANTINOPOLE, Sept. 1.—Unwinding Turkish red tape in passport formalities kept the Pride of Detroit a whole day in the Turkish capital today and set William Brock and Edward P. Schlee, struggling for a new round-the-world flight record, back a day on their schedule.

DELAYS OFFSET GAIN The delay cost the Americans practically all the advantage they had gained by their rapid progress thus far.

The Pride of Detroit arrived here in fine shape last night from Belgrade where reports of cyclones over the route to Turkey had delayed them another night. They expected to hop off early this morning for Aleppo, and weather conditions were right for the flight, but Turkish officials insisted on Brock and Schlee complying with certain passport regulations and disclosing weather they had taken any photographs in Turkey.
